DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following minor informalities:

The "title of the invention" and the title in the specification should be the same.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Regarding claim 11, line 1; recites "computer readable medium having a computer code recorded thereon wherein the program includes the sets of instructions.."; however, the specification recites "the program may be in the form of source code, object code, a code intermediate source and object code such as in partially compiled form, or in any other form suitable for use in the implementation of the process according to the invention. The carrier may be any entity or device capable of carrying the program. For example, the carrier may comprise a storage medium, such as a ROM (Read Only Memory), for example a CD (Compact Disc) or a semiconductor ROM, or a magnetic recording medium, for example a floppy disc or hard disc. Further, the carrier may be a transmissible carrier such as an electrical or optical signal which may be conveyed via electrical or optical cable or by radio or by other means. When the program is embodied in a signal which may be conveyed directly by a cable or other device or means, the carrier may be constituted by such cable or device or means”.

Here, the carrier may be transmitted as “carrier” and carrier is “signal” per se and signal is a non-statutory subject matter.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-10 and 12-15 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The closest prior art fails to explicitly disclose correlating step comprising the further sub-steps of over-sampling the representation (S BB) of the received signal (SMT) within the uncertainty region to obtain a corresponding over-sampled representation of the received signal (<SBB>), the over-sampling being equivalent to a reduced chip period (T.sub.C1) which is shorter than the nominal chip period (TC), selecting a local spreading sequence (SPP) containing poly-phased symbol values which are different from the set of symbols represented by the received signal (SMT), the selected local spreading sequence (SPP) having a nominal chip period being equivalent to the reduced chip period (TC1), and cross-correlating the over-sampled representation (<SBB>) of the received signal (SMT) with the selected local spreading sequence (SPP) to obtain an improved uncertainty region which is more limited than one half nominal chip period (TC/2). The distinct feature of the independent claims renders the claims allowable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent; or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for the purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English.

7. Claim (####) rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(?) as being anticipated by .

(highlight the intended paragraph, make sure rejection statement has the same paragraph letter)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows: (See MPEP Ch. 2141)

Art Unit: 2611

- a. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art;
- b. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims in issue;
- c. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art; and
- d. Evaluating evidence of secondary considerations for indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

9. Claim (###) rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over “ref A” in view of “ref B”.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- List prior art cited for the record but not used in Office Action, including a short description (use abstract)

Examiner's Note

15. The referenced citations made in the rejection(s) above are intended to exemplify areas in the prior art document(s) in which the examiner believed are the most relevant to the claimed subject matter. However, it is incumbent upon the applicant to analyze the prior art document(s) in its/their entirety since other areas of the document(s) may be relied upon at a later time to substantiate examiner's rationale of record. A prior art reference must be considered in its entirety, i.e., as a whole, including portions that would lead away from the claimed invention. W.L. Gore & associates, Inc. v. Garlock, Inc., 721 F.2d 1540, 220 USPQ 303 (Fed. Cir. 1983), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 851 (1984).

Art Unit: 2611

However, “the prior art’s mere disclosure of more than one alternative does not constitute a teaching away from any of these alternatives because such disclosure does not criticize, discredit, or otherwise discourage the solution claimed....” In re Fulton, 391 F.3d 1195, 1201, 73 USPQ2d 1141, 1146 (Fed. Cir. 2004).
